OBITUARY

William Young of Chinook died on March 12th, at the home of his son-in-law, Malcolm McDougall, Killam, where he was visiting, the cause of his death being pneumonia. The deceased was in his seventy-fifth year, a man of sterling character, greatly beloved and much respected by all who knew him, a member of the Presbyterian church and a Liberal in politics. He was born at Aton Burn, in the Cheviot Hills, eleven miles from Kilso, in Roxburghshire, Scotland, and came to Huntington, Quebec with his parents at the age of five years. Later he moved to Bruce County, close to Cargill, where he helped to hew out a home from the solid forest. In the fall of 1869 he married Margaret McCrae, who predeceased him thirty-seven years. He leaves three sons and one daughter, James of Chinook, John of Killam, William of Robsart, Sask., and Mrs. McDougall of Killam; also three brothers and three sisters, Joseph of Winters, Cal., Robert of Calgary, Henry on the old home near Cargill, Mrs. J. B. Campbell of Chestey, Margaret of Toronto, and Mrs. A. Campbell of St. Louis. Mr. Young has three times done pioneer work. First he helped to hew out a home of the solid forest in Bruce County, next on the bald prairie near Killam, and then on the open prairie at Chinook, where he lived with his son James. His remains were taken east by his son William, to be laid to rest by the side of his late wife, in the family plot in Douglas Hill burying ground, Ontario.

U.F.A.

The Chinook Local put on their regular social evening last Friday night, at which there was a good attendance.

At the business meeting after program, several new members were received.

A committee was appointed to receive orders for formaldehyde from members of U.F.A.

The next meeting is to be on Friday, May 28th, at which the program is to take largely the nature of a Scotch evening, the programme committee being Madames Woodruff, Miller and Mitchell, and Messrs. Wilson and Watson.

According to a notice from the seed grain commissioner, the time limit for farmers purchasing seed wheat from country elevators at the special price of $2.45 a bushel, has been extended from March 21 to April 15.

April 1st, and there seems no lit-up of winter weather, which means a very late spring.

Posters are out for a whist drive and dance, on Easter Monday, April 5th, in the Chinook school assembly hall, under the auspices of the Ladies' Curling Club. Good music, refreshment and prizes. Start at 8.30 sharp.

The Women's Institute plan to meet in the new Rest-room (old bank building) this month, Wednesday, the 7th, at 3 o'clock. The delegate to the convention at Edmonton will read her report and the subject for receipt exchange will be soups. We will be glad to welcome more country members, and hope the women from the country will find the Rest-room a great convenience. Secretary.

SOUNDING CREEL COUNCIL

Met at Youngstown, March 27 Present: Cameron, Farrow, Clapperton and Moore.

Minutes read and adopted.

A feature of the meeting was the presence of Mr. J. H. Lamb, Deputy Minister Municipal Affairs, who attended the early part of the meeting, and answered several questions put to him by councillors and ratepayers regarding problems of municipal administration.

Mr. Cameron moved that the Council go into committee of the whole to consider seed grain applications. As this date had been set for the final consideration of seed grain matters, quite a number of applications were in and they occupied the remainder of the afternoon session and a portion of the evening.

Cameron, that in view of the approaching rise in the price of seed wheat, the Secretary be instructed to purchase 2500 bush, at Youngstown and 1000 bush, at Chinook, in order to safeguard our ratepayers.

Moore, that we appropriate $200 per division for emergency road work.

Moore, that were the amount realized from the sale of any impounded animal hereafter is less than the pound fees payable, the poundkeeper shall be reimbursed from the funds of municipality.

Section 4 of the Gopher By-law was amended to permit of proceedings being taken for the destruction of gophers on vacant lands at any time after the first of April, instead of the first of May.

Clapperton, that we pay three cents per tail on gophers up to May 15th.

Farrow moved the amendment of Section 3 of the Herd Law, defining an animal at large in accordance with the suggestion received from the Department. After some discussion this was carried. Some of the councillors regarded the change as of words than substance, and unnecessary.

By-law No. 20 was amended to provide for the borrowing of an extra five thousand dollars on seed grain account should it become necessary.

Following bills were paid: Dept Pub Health, vaccine 10.00
Dept Pub Works, surveyors 22.50
West Muni News 16.30
Adjourned to May 15th.

ABOUT YOUR CHILBLAINS!

What are they? A mild form of frost-bite—a chilling of the parts of a body to such a degree that inflammation is set up, causing a tingling pain, excessive irritation and often swelling. Zam-Buk cures chilblains by drawing out the inflammation, thus ending the pain and irritation and reducing the swelling.

Miss Annie Lepard of Beaverdale, Ont., says: "I suffered agonies from chilblains and used many remedies, but nothing gave me any ease until I used Zam-Buk, which, after a little perseverance, completely rid me of this painful ailment."

Regular applications of Zam-Buk will prevent a recurrence of the trouble. Keep it handy. 50c. box.

Canada's Status

Canada's international status has been determined by its inclusion in the League of Nations as a distinct national entity, possessing the same standing and voting power as is accorded to sovereign nations, and obligated to assume the same responsibilities and discharge the same duties as are laid on all other nations.

This is an almost revolutionary change in status to that existing prior to the Great War. When, on August 4, 1914, Great Britain declared war on Germany, Canada, in common with the whole British Empire, was automatically at war. The Canadian Parliament did not make a declaration of war; it merely took official cognizance of the fact that a state of war existed. It remained, however, for the Canadian Parliament to decide the extent of Canada's participation in the war.

In future, however, as a full-fledged member of the League of Nations, Canada will have a voice in deciding issues of peace or war. Canada's vote will count just as effectively as the vote of Great Britain, France, Italy or any other country. This means that, whereas formerly Canada had no foreign policy, because it had no say in foreign affairs. It must decide issues of peace or war for itself.

This change in Canada's international status inevitably calls for some change in its position within the British Empire and in the relations hitherto existing between this Dominion and Great Britain. There are certain anomalies in the present relationship that must be corrected, but which in no wise weaken the Empire, or tend to Canada's withdrawal therefrom; on the contrary, such changes as are necessary should have the effect of adding strength to the Empire.

Recognized as a nation within a League of Nations, Canada will have direct relations with all other nations and it is almost certain to follow that this Dominion will have its own accredited representatives at the capitals of other countries. The first step in the evolution of this policy is being taken in the appointment of a Canadian Minister to Washington. In the past, if the Canadian Government had representations to make to the United States Government it was necessary to transmit them to the Colonial Office in London, who in turn handed them over to the British foreign office, which sent them on with instructions to the British ambassador at Washington. Replies to such representations had to return via the same route, and all negotiations between Ottawa and Washington had to be conducted through London. In future, we are to have direct dealings with the United States Government through a Canadian Minister at Washington.

Other important constitutional changes are up for discussion at Ottawa. Canada derives its constitution from the British Parliament, through the British North America Act. Any alteration or amendment to that constitution can only be effected by the British Parliament upon address of the Canadian Parliament. It is now proposed that Canada shall be given full power over its own constitution, to amend it from time to time as the people of Canada conceive in their own interest it should be amended and without recourse to the British Parliament. Australia and New Zealand possess such control over their constitution, and the Dominion Minister of Justice is now in negotiation with the several Provincial Governments with a view to having representations made to the British Government and Parliament for the conferring of similar powers upon Canada.

The view has long been held by many Canadians that a change should also be effected in our system of judicial appeals. At present the final court of appeal for Canada is the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in England. There is a growing belief that, so far as Canadian cases are concerned, the Supreme Court of Canada should be made the final court of appeal—that it should be supreme in fact as well as in name, and that all the expense and delay inseparable from appeals to London should be abolished.

Slowly, but none the less surely, Canada and the other self-governing Dominions of the British Empire seem to be moving towards the ultimate goal of independence in all foreign affairs, just as they have long been independent in all domestic matters. This does not mean that Canada will sever its connection with Britain, nor withdraw from the Empire. Not at all. It has been declared by the Prince of Wales, Lloyd George and others, that Canada is now a nation, a partner of Great Britain, occupying a position of equality with Britain in the Empire. If this is true, and no one disputes it, then existing anomalies whereby in some respects the British Government, Parliament and the courts can exercise a veto over Canada must be removed.

Evolving gradually, the apparent end would seem to be the constitutional establishment of Canada and the other self-governing Dominions as sovereign nations, all owing allegiance to one Crown, flying the same flag, working together in cordial co-operation for the good of all, but each mistress of their own affairs. In a word, a league of British nations within a League of Nations.

Flax A Popular Crop in Alberta

Will Receive More Attention Owing To Experiments on Behalf of Government

The growing of flax in Alberta, it is expected, will receive more attention than ever before primarily owing to the experiments that were made last year by some growers on behalf of the Imperial Government. The flax was then that the shortage of flax fibre for the manufacture of linen in Ireland, that this product could with advantage be grown in western Canada. The experiments were not satisfactory owing to the fact that the flax was too late in maturing on account of the exceptionally early frosts but while this was so it gave rise to the suggestion that the fibre could in any case be used for the manufacture of binder twine.

A special threshing machine has been invented which while dealing with the seed in a very thorough fashion does not injure the stems. With the flax seed at about $5.15 a bushel of fifty-six pounds, and what could be obtained for the fibre, which it is estimated would be at least $10 a ton, Alberta farmers are keenly interested in flax growing. One prominent Alberta farmer alone is seeding 1,000 acres this year with this product.

Canada's Relations With West Indies

Will Be To Our Advantage To Cultivate Their Friendship

Sir Robert Falconer, K.C.M.G., president of the University of Toronto, writes to Montreal to emphasize the importance of the work that T. B. Macaulay, of this city, is doing in trying to create better relations between Canada and the British West Indies and British Guiana. "Today," says President Falconer, "some of these islands are almost dependent economically upon the United States, and the trend of all their trade, including that of British Guiana, might easily and quickly be diverted thither. If Canada can bind the West Indies and British Guiana to herself by trade and personal intercourse, their future relation to this Dominion or Great Britain may be left to take care of itself. The trade of the West Indies would be of great advantage to us, and they could with much profit purchase from us."

"Their trade and population are both growing rapidly. Moreover, the social status of the people is rising rapidly. Under scientific management the future of these countries with their fertile soil and natural resources is bound to be prosperous. It will be to our advantage to cultivate their friendship, and to our interest to be generous to them in trade."

"It would be good policy for the Dominion Government and the Canadian boards of trade to direct the attention of the Canadian people to these very near neighbours of ours within the Empire."

The Submarine Failure

How Great Britain Successfully Grappled With the War-Time Menace

Mr. Archibald Hurd, recognized throughout the world as a naval expert of great judgment and foresight, has been writing of late upon one of his favorite topics, the submarine, and he points out that, at first, it appeared as though it might succeed, for it was a departure which took not only British seamen, but all the seamen of the world, by surprise. No provision had been made by either the British, French, Italian, American, Japanese or other naval authorities for countering the submarine employed as the Germans employed it. Lord Jellicoe in the emergency was recalled from the Grand Fleet, and on becoming First Sea Lord, this officer, in association with Vice-Admiral Sir Alexander Duff and other experienced seamen whom he brought with him from the North, devoted himself to the problem of countering the German submarine. The extent to which one submarine was mastered is partially revealed in the figures of the sinking of merchant tonnage. In April, 1917, 516,000 tons of British shipping were destroyed, but in October, 1918, with more tonnage aloft, the sinkings had fallen to 54,577 tons.

Alberta Potatoes for California

Recognition of Quality of Produce Grown in Western Canada

New markets for the potato crop of Alberta have been opened up by the shipment of a whole carload of potatoes consigned from Edmonton to San Francisco.

This shipment practically constitutes the first consignment of the kind ever sent from Edmonton direct to the Pacific Coast. While eastern markets have been plentiful in the past, direct orders for potatoes from California points have seldom reached this city and the placing of such a shipment with a city such as San Francisco is a recognition of the quality of produce grown in the province.

A SPRING TONIC AIDS EFFICIENCY

Lay Foundation of Good Health Now By Building Your Blood and Strengthening Your Nerves

The good old fashion of taking a tonic in the springtime, like most of the customs of our grandparents, is based upon sound common sense and good medical practice. Winter is always a trying time for those who are not in rugged physical health. Many men, women and children go through the winter on a reserve strength they have stored up during the sunny, summer months, and grow increasingly pale and languid as the spring days approach. A tonic for the blood and nerves at this time will do much for such people, by putting color in the cheeks and banishing that tired feeling that worries thousands of people at this season of the year.

It is impossible to be energetic if your blood is thin and weak or if your nerves are frayed or shattered. You cannot compete with others if you do not get refreshing sleep at night, or if your appetite is poor or you are losing weight. You need a tonic at this time to add to your efficiency now, as well as to avoid trouble in the future. In all the realm of medicine there is no better tonic than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills cure and enrich the blood which circulates through every portion of the body, strengthening jaded nerves and run-down organs and bringing a feeling of new strength and energy to weak, easily tired, despondent men, women and children.

Mrs. J. N. McNeil, Glace Bay, N.S., says: "For years past my home has never been without Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I have good reason to praise them highly. Following an attack of la grippe, I was left in a badly run down condition. I had no appetite and felt so weak I could scarcely go about the house. I was taking medicine but it was not helping me, and a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I used them for a time with the most beneficial results. My appetite improved, my strength returned and I was soon able to do all my household work. I now use the pills every spring and find them a splendid strength bringing tonic. I have recommended the pills to other friends who have used them with good results."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic, not a stimulant. They build up the blood, and through their use not only the disastrous after effects of influenza but also troubles due to poor blood such as anaemia, rheumatism, indigestion and the generally worn-out feeling that affects so many people disappear. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Right Course

Work of Instructing British Columbia's Farmers of Tomorrow

Agriculture under competent teachers along practical lines is taking an increasingly important position in the curriculum of the public schools in the different municipalities of the lower Fraser Valley of British Columbia.

At the present time the class in agriculture of one of the high schools are taking a course in the proper feeding of live stock and are getting an insight into the different values of the various kinds of feeds for cattle, horses and sheep.

Last month the pupils were gaining useful knowledge about soils, their properties and fertilization. Ten schools in the same district are busy preparing plans for the school gardens. Poultry raising and the care of calves and pigs are also on the school program.

The teaching of nature-study in the class-rooms, the practical work of the school and home garden, and the emulating contests of school fairs are all factors which tend towards the development of the boys and girls of today, and will greatly assist them in becoming efficient farmers and farmers' wives in the coming years.

Canada's Tire Production

Figures made public in Montreal show that there were about 2,000,000 automobile tires manufactured in Canada last year, requiring about 8,000,000 square yards, or 12,000,000 to 16,000,000 pounds of tire fabric, and that only about one third of the fabric required in the manufacture of these tires was made in Canada. The remainder came from the United States. Increased production of tire fabric is now aimed at.

G.W.V. Will Make Request For Cash Gratuity

Montreal.—After two days of discussion, which at times became somewhat sensational, the Great War Veterans' association of Canada, at their fourth annual convention here, agreed on and adopted a definite bonus plan which fixes a maximum of $2,500 and a minimum of $100, subject to no deductions and payable to 100 per cent of the Canadian forces. The cash re-establishment bonus is based on an additional $1 per diem for the total period of their enlistment to men who have seen service on a belligerent front.

It is also asked that dependents of fallen soldiers or their beneficiaries should receive equitable compensation in the form of a lump sum, cash bonus, not to be less than the amount the soldier would have received had he returned at the date of the armistice.

Finally, the government is asked to deal with the matter at the present session of parliament in view of the many and serious difficulties confronting the returned soldiers in their endeavours to become re-established. The cost of the proposed bonus would be approximately $215,000,000.

Dominion Secretary-Treasurer McNeil warned the delegates that the present Canadian government had already definitely declared itself as being against an indiscriminate cash bonus and that their opposition must be overcome before the passing of a measure embodying the bonus could be effected.

Having conceived a solution, he added, it entirely remained to convince the public of Canada.

In speaking on the resolution brought in by the re-establishment committee, the adoption of which he had moved, Comrade Jenkins pointed out that the committee had tried to express in the resolution what appeared to be the wish of the convention. He showed that the resolution had a connecting link with the original G. W. V. A. plan.

Comrade Woods, of Calgary, in seconding the resolution, declared his endorsement of the measure, and said that he was out for the welfare of the country as much as for the returned soldier and the last thing he would wish to do would be to embarrass the country in any way. He thought that the basis of one dollar per day for a man who served on a belligerent front was a very conservative one.

U.S. Would Remove Turks From Europe

Washington.—The original position of the United States government, that the Turks should be expelled from Europe is restated in a note to the allied supreme council, which has been prepared at the state department and which will be transmitted soon.

The communication is in reply to an enquiry from the French and British governments as to the views of the United States on the Turkish settlement. The position of the United States government is understood to be that there is no sound reason for retaining the Turkish capital in Europe. The United States is said to take the view that the contention that the expulsion of the Turks might be resented by the Mohammedans is not supported by the facts since the war in the near east was won largely by the aid of Mohammedans.

Urges Energetic Steps

To Enforce Treaty

Andre Tardieu Says France Has Been Left Burden

Paris.—An immediate meeting of allied leaders to decide upon energetic steps to insure enforcement of the treaty of Versailles was urged by Andre Tardieu, former commissioner of Franco-American relations, in an interview here.

"The treaty already appears to have been violated as much as any treaty could be," Tardieu said. "It is urged that the allied governments meet to decide upon immediate drastic steps."

Tardieu believed the difficulties in allied-German relations will continue to increase rapidly, until the allies decide upon immediate drastic steps, at once and enforce it firmly.

Enforcement of the treaty practically has been left to France, Tardieu said, and France's position is probably weakened by the movement of the peace conference to London. The recent "intermittent meetings" of the congress have been characterized neither by firmness nor unity of direction," Tardieu believed.

New Home For Former Crown Prince

Said to Have Declined Residence Near Exiled Father

The Hague.—Announcement by the premier today that the Dutch government had granted the Island of Weiringer to the former German crown prince as a place of residence is believed here to complete the steps by which Holland seeks to meet allied demands as to the safe keeping of deposed Emperor William and his son.

Reports are current that the crown prince asked that his residence be fixed on the island, and declined an opportunity to live near his father.

Essen Is Now Normal

Soviet Government Leader Says He Does Not Fear Intervention From Allies

Amsterdam.—Conditions at Essen present a normal outward appearance except for the presence of armed labor guards, red flags, armored automobiles and a few bullet marks on the buildings, according to the correspondent of the Telegraph who arrived at Dusseldorf. A member of the soviet government at Essen told the correspondent he had no fear of allied intervention so long as the allied missions were safe.

The correspondent found the soviet administration proclaiming the necessity of returning to work and admonishing against plundering.

Reprisals Threatened in Ireland

Queenstown.—The chairman of the district council has received a typewritten communication warning him that he will be assassinated in the event of the shooting of any Queenstown policemen.

Will Keep Down

Lumber Prices

Manufacturers Will Do Everything Possible to Prevent Any New Advance

Calgary.—That there will be no further increase in the price of lumber if the manufacturer can possibly help it, was the statement of I. R. Poole, secretary of the Mountain Lumbermen's Association, today. Mr. Poole said that this decision had been arrived at notwithstanding the increased cost of production.

"If the manufacturers can control the situation the price of lumber will certainly not further advance," he definitely stated. Another matter which occupied considerable time of the convention was the gathering together of facts for presentation to the Canadian Board of Commerce, covering 1919 operations. These will be presented to the board in due course. Mr. Poole stated that these figures will prove conclusively that the manufacturers were not in the "profiteering" class.

Thoroughbreds From Royal Windsor Stable

Prince of Wales May Have Horses On Western Tracks at Summer Fairs

Saskatoon.—The Prince of Wales thoroughbred race horses from Windsor, England, will probably be seen on the western Canadian race tracks during the big summer fairs this year.

J. Carlyle, manager of the Alberta ranch, which His Royal Highness purchased on his Canadian tour last summer, has gone east to superintend the unloading of the horses, which are expected to arrive from the old country in May or June.

The string now numbers seven thoroughbred animals, most of them two years old. They are of the purest English stock, and while they are being sent to Canada, primarily for breeding purposes it is anticipated some of them will be raced around the western Canada fair circuits this year.

Daniels Again Criticised

Statement That U.S. Navy Department Was in State of Shock When War Was Declared

Washington.—Not only was the navy department without comprehensive plans for naval participation in a war when the United States severed relations with Germany, but Secretary Daniels disapproved the general plan drawn up by the bureau of operations and submitted in March 1917, Chairman Harris Lanning, former assistant chief of navigation told the senate investigating committee.

As a result of this alleged lack of preparation, the witness said, the navy department was virtually in a state of chaos the day the United States entered the war.

Personal characteristics of Secretary Daniels often made it impossible to obtain approval of important plans and policies, Chairman Lanning asserted, as the personal interest taken by him in minor affairs "occupied so much time that he never had much left to give us for really important problems."

Chairman Lanning, at the time war was declared, said there was not a sufficient reserve.

Withdraw Chinese Troops in Siberia

Peking.—The government has ordered the withdrawal of Chinese troops from Siberia. This important action is taken as indicating an accord with the powers relative to Russia, and also as tantamount to abrogating the Sino-Japanese military convention which provided for common action in case of invasion across the northern frontier.

Belgians Will Return

German Fire

Will Open Fire If Any More Shots Fall in Belgian Occupied Territory

Buderich, Rhenish Prussia.—Col. Ferous, commanding the Belgian forces, told the correspondent today that he had sent officers to the workmen's headquarters at Wesel, formally to notify the workers that the Belgians would open fire immediately if any more shots fell in Belgian occupied territory.

French Peace Loan

Paris.—Unofficial figures of the amount subscribed to the peace loan places the total at between 15,000,000 and 16,000,000,000 francs. There is a larger proportion of currency than in the former loans.

Lemieux Speaks On

Bi-Lingual Question

Says Exclusiveness is Not A Policy, But A Blunder

London.—The King today received the Hon. Rodolphe and Mrs. Lemieux, and handed them the military cross won by their son. Mr. Lemieux was later entertained by the Empire Parliamentary Association at Westminster, Sir Auckland Geddes presiding at the function.

Mr. Lemieux spoke at length on the bi-lingual question, and said in part: "I am not speaking as a party man but as a Canadian who gave his all for the cause of small nationalities. From Sir Wilfrid Laurier I learned isolation and exclusiveness is not a policy, but a blunder."

The gathering was largely attended by members of the house of commons and the house of lords, acceptances including ex-premier Asquith, the Duke of Devonshire, Archbishop of Canterbury, Lord Borneham, Lord Islington, and Hon. Walter Long. General Seeley and Ben Tillett were also present.

France May Retaliate

Further Decline in Franc Value Provoked French Discomfiture

Paris.—Sharp declines in the value of the franc as compared with American dollar and the British pound sterling, while the German mark, despite disorders in the Ruhr district, made a substantial gain, have provoked the fresh discussion of the exchange situation and the renewal of talk of rigid restrictions on importations as a measure to check the depreciation of the franc. Financial authorities are of the opinion that restrictions afford the only immediate remedy and predict an early prohibition of all luxuries and articles which might be described as superfluous.

Canada's Mercantile Marine

More Questions Are To Be Asked With Regard To Hon. Ballantyne's Statement

Ottawa.—Further criticism of the Canadian government merchant marine is foreshadowed in a series of questions to be asked in the house by Lucien Cannon (Dorchester). Mr. Cannon, along with others does not think the whole of the facts desired by them were sufficiently explained by Hon. C. C. Ballantyne when the subject was brought before the house, hence the further enquiry. It is also thought that the questions have been framed so as to give Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the opposition, a chance to bring on his argument that tenders should be called for the construction of ships before any tenders are let.

This may develop into a lengthy debate, it having been made a strong point when he spoke on the estimate of 20,000,000 for completion of the government's program, in regard to the extension of the merchant marine service.

Mr. Cannon, in one of his questions asks who was responsible for the choice of names given the various ships in the service. Cost, revenue, profit and depreciation are all again covered by the questions.

To Restore Order

Allies to Allow Despatch of Ebert Forces Into Ruhr Valley Districts

Paris.—Two German officers, who arrived here from Berlin to explain to the allies the necessity for permitting the German army to enter the occupied zone to restore order, saw Premier Millerand and told him the Ebert government had ample forces ready to deal with the situation in the Ruhr valley. It is understood on good authority the allies have decided to give the permission. The French government would have preferred inter-armed action in the occupied zone, while the British and Italians favored granting permission for operations by the Germans. The French gave way on this point in view of the dependence of France on supplies of coal from the Ruhr districts.

French coal production has decreased from the old figure of 40,000,000 tons to an average of about 18,000,000 tons yearly. By the terms of the treaty of Versailles Germany is bound to cover the deficiency up to a total of 20,000,000 a year. On the restoration of order in the Ruhr valley, therefore, depends largely the continuation of French industries.

It is estimated that the earth in one day's travel through space meets 75,000,000 meteors.

Lloyd George Says Allies Could Not Settle Turkish Question Owing To Mandate

London.—Replying to criticism of the government's foreign policy by Herbert H. Asquith, member for Paisley, Lloyd George gave a detailed explanation of the Turkish settlement. The Premier said it would have been a blunder to have settled the Turkish problems without giving the United States most ample opportunity to decide whether it would accept a mandate, because it would have given rise to suspicion that Great Britain and France were taking advantage of the political dissension in the United States to divide the whole of Turkey among themselves.

"It was only when America definitely refused the mandate that we proceeded further," Lloyd George declared.

The Premier said the principle to oust the Sultan had been rejected as inadequate because it left the question of the government of Constantinople undecided, and the Allies were unable to afford the expense and responsibility of the administration of Constantinople.

With regard to Armenia, the Premier continued: "France would have been willing to hand Cilicia to the United States if the latter had accepted the mandate. Up to the present we have only received requests from America to protect Armenia, without any offer to assume responsibility."

Are Not All Soviets

Many Germans Are Fighting Against Government For Anti-Monarchist Movement

London.—Not all of the workmen who have taken up arms against the government in Germany are imbued with Spartan ideas, according to office today. Information gathered by British representatives in Germany show many workmen intend to fight only certain anti-monarchistic representatives are included in the new cabinet. The Essen disturbances, which are the most serious in the country, are described, however, as purely Bolshevik.

The indications were, it is said, that the peace conference is gradually coming round to the British idea that the Germans should be left to settle their own internal troubles while the peace treaty is not violated.

Future of Soviet Russia

Moscow.—The ninth convention of the all-Russian communist party which opened here March 27, will be of vital importance to the future of Soviet Russia, as it will be given the task of formulating the internal economic policy of the country during the coming year.

Three principal matters will be before the convention, these being industrial rehabilitation; the agricultural policy and the development and status of the co-operative societies. Two distinct parties have been formed, one favoring centralization of power, and the other opposing that policy.

Soviets Are Still Active In German Revolt

Leipzig.—Halle, the large industrial town just to the northwest of this city, is completely cut off from communication. Latest reports were that the troops had gained the upper hand after a considerable part of the city had been reduced to ruins.

Saxon troops to reinforce the government's contingent in Halle, are on the way there. In other nearby communities the turmoil terminated which had been existing for more than a week. As far as can be learned the workmen's revolt in this section is directed against the military elements and shows no Bolshevik tendencies. The single exception is the town of Falkenstein, southern Saxony, where a soviet is said to have been established by Communist leaders.

Both wings of the Socialist-Democrats are denouncing the reservation of martial law and the withdrawal of the troops. These are among the workmen's principal demands. In Leipzig the stone walls of the great railway station, the station Volkschau and dozens of buildings are pitted from top to bottom from machine gun and rifle fire, while hand grenades have left many ugly gouges. The normal life of the city is being revived, but the stranger instantly detects a feeling of excitement and expectancy.

It is estimated that there are less than 1,000 Communists in Leipzig, although the Independent Socialists are very strong.

According to conservative estimates about 10,000 carried arms in Leipzig last week, and beginning with the first clash, March 15, when 17 persons were killed and 60 wounded, there was almost constant street fighting up to last Saturday.

Ottawa.—Hon. C. C. Ballantyne made the following statement in the house on the future of the Canadian Navy:

The government has had under consideration for some time the question of the naval defence of Canada, and the suggestions of Admiral Viscount Jellicoe in reference thereto. In view of Canada's heavy financial commitments, and of the fact that Great Britain has not as yet decided on her permanent naval policy and of the approaching imperial conference at which the question of naval defence of the empire will come up for discussion between the home government and the overseas dominions it has been decided to defer for the present any action in regard to the adoption of a permanent naval policy for Canada. The government has decided to carry on the Canadian navy as such in the meantime along pre-war lines, and has accepted the offer of Great Britain of one light cruiser and two torpedo boat destroyers to take the place of the present obsolete and inefficient training ships, the Niobe and the Rainbow.

The minister of naval service, in order to be free to thoroughly reorganize and place the present service on an economical and efficient basis has issued orders for the demobilization of all officers and naval ratings, and for the discontinuance of civilian help at headquarters, and at the naval dockyards in Esquimalt and Halifax.

The Canadian officers who are in the imperial fleet and who are now being recalled by the government will be recalled and placed on duty with the Canadian naval service. The naval college will also be continued. After reorganization has been completed only those officers and other ratings and civilians will be taken on who are absolutely necessary and possess the qualifications desired.

Mr. Ballantyne further announced that retirement from the Canadian naval service of Admiral Kingsmill, Mr. Ballantyne proceeded: "Admiral Sir Charles Kingsmill has been director of the Canadian naval service since its creation in 1910. He has performed good work in the organization of a new force during the war, very heavy duties were placed upon his shoulders which he discharged with energy and ability and as minister of naval service, I extend to him the thanks of the government, and my own appreciation of the excellent work he has performed for the Canadian navy."

"It will not be necessary to appoint an officer of such high rank to take charge of the smaller temporary force now proposed, and a more junior officer will succeed to his position."

To Banish Horses

Denver.—Denver is to banish the horse from her streets if a bill now before the city council becomes a law. No horses, cattle, sheep or swine may after January, 1925, be kept in the city limits or driven on the streets.

Turk Leader is Arrested

Constantinople.—Ali Said Pasha, military governor of Constantinople, has been arrested by the British forces in that city.

BOY-SCOUT NEWS

Young Canada—
"Be Prepared"

Boys of the Two Uplifted Fingers

Scout Movement Is the World-Wide Brotherhood of Boys

The year of 1912 was conspicuous in that there was officially originated in England the Boy Scout movement, which since that time has spread throughout the Empire and into most of the countries of the world, until today it can with truth be said of the Boy Scout movement that it is the world-wide brotherhood of boys.

The movement had originated a few years prior to this date, and before the Royal Charter of incorporation was issued there were troops in existence in various parts of the empire. During the initial years of the movement, each and every Scoutmaster was confronted with the problems of what to do with the junior boy, that boy that was too young to become a Scout, that boy that persisted in his demand to be allowed to enter this world-wide brotherhood of boys.

It was not until 1914 that the great chief in this world-wide brotherhood launched his answer to the demand of the junior boy and submitted to the world the Wolf Cub programme in the same quiet and masterful way that he had submitted the Boy Scout programme to it six or seven years previous.

"Give us the yodys," says Benjamin Kidd, "and we will create a new mind and a new earth in a single generation." There is no objective which a people or race can set before itself which is not possible through the organization and transmission of an ideal in its social heredity.

Up until this time no programme had taken account of the younger boy in any real constructive way, for it was only beginning to be realized that the young people must be the first line in everything that concerns future regeneration and reconstruction. No programme is constructive or worthy the paper it is written on that does not take into account the young people. In providing for future navies and fortifications the world must not neglect to provide for those invisible fortifications of the soul which mean more to a nation's strength than do the bulwarks of war. The Wolf Cub movement is an honest attempt on the part of its founder and its officers to give expression to these truths.

It is to be regretted that the world of today is saturated with a contempt of law. It matters not whether that law is civil or religious; whether enforced by home, school, church or state, the alarming tendency is to flout it. There is an overwhelming desire to be rid of every vestige of restraint and this has taken too firm a hold of our boys, as evidenced by the increasing prevalence of juvenile crimes. No country or community can afford to leave its childhood and youth without the sound lessons of subjection and control, for if those are omitted, respect of right and disobedience to law are bound to develop. What will it avail any nation if its children grow up physically strong and mentally weak?

The average boy, if given a fair chance, is a law-respecter and enforcer rather than a law-breaker. The history of the Scout movement amply demonstrates this. The Wolf Cub movement has given to the junior boy of from 8 to 12 years of age the opportunity to become a member of the world-wide brotherhood of boys, and it has opened up to him an avenue of self-esteem and public service that previously was not available to him. The call of the brotherhood has found a ready response in the heart of every real boy, and those of them who have become members of the Wolf Cub movement have found in the Pack an appeal to their noblest and best, and have expressed that appeal in doing their best at all times, and under all

An Island Where Deer Are Safe

Listening to the Barking of Hounds on a Distant Island.

Taking an Apple from the Fingers of a Visitor

The deep music of a deerhound's voice came faintly down the bay; shortly it blended with the sharper voice of a hunting Airedale. The scream of a hungry cougar is not more terrifying to the timid deer of the British Columbia coast than the bay of the hounds on the trail. When they hear it they get up and go—straight for water.

The little spike buck, born a few seasons before on the rugged, forested coast of the Pacific province, lifted his head. His eyes and his ears, his very pose, displayed the high tension of his last nerves. He looked into the forest of the island on which he stood, and saw nothing alarming. He turned and stared across the water toward Nelson Island. The only thing that caught his eye that did not denote restful nature in primitive grandeur was a smudge of smoke that smeared the horizon and showed that a C.P.R. coasting steamer was out-bound from Powell River. Then the boom of the hound's voice rolled again across the waters from Nelson Island. The deer moved nervously, looked all round again—and calmly bent his head to bite a mouthful of grass. He was safe. He was on Hardy Island. Hardy Island is the city of refuge to all the deer that know about it. Three years ago it was good hunting grounds. Today it is taboo to men with guns, and hell pops, as the saying goes, if men with both guns and dogs appear. It is unlawful to hunt deer with dogs in British Columbia, but it is still done in certain districts, in spite of law. Two years ago, or perhaps slightly more than that, Mr. C. J. Leyland, of England, purchased Hardy Island, a gem of land situated just off Nelson Island, at the mouth of Jervis Inlet. He bought it to experiment with British trees in the B.C. climate. There were 2,500 acres of rich lands and forests, and there was a good orchard. He placed a watchman, Tom Brazil, on the property, and did no more toward development, preferring to await the end of the war. Brazil, a lover of animals, caught two of the wild deer that frequently swam to the island from the other nearby lands. He tamed them. They in turn brought other wild ones. Many of them had been run to water by dogs and took refuge on Hardy Island. There, seeing how intimate the original tame pair were with the man who controlled the orchards where the luscious apples grew, the wild newcomers gradually grew intimate, too. Today a herd of thirty deer, most of them born in wildness, respond to the voice of Tom Brazil when he calls. Some of them will step forward from the herd when called by name. They have no fear at all of man, when on Hardy Island. Sometimes they swim to other parts of the coast, and range about a bit, but they come back, often fagged from some fierce run and swim.

Tom Brazil's herd is becoming a byword on the coast, but no dog and no man dare brave what might happen should he try to hunt on the island of refuge. So the deer are fat, are bringing new little lives into the world, and are adding to their numbers by recruit volunteers from the wild ranges where such safety is not known.—L. V. K.

Earlier Civilization Than That of Egypt

Interest in Benin, Africa, Scarcely to Be Surpassed

Archaeologists today think that Benin, Africa, may be a land where records of an earlier civilization than that of Egypt are to be found. But whatever the antiquity of Benin, its present day interest is scarcely to be surpassed.

Here are to be found a people so benighted that, until a quarter of a century ago, they put a taboo upon exportation of all their products except palm oil, and practised human sacrifice to an appalling extent; yet so advanced that they knew the processes of weaving and the arts of carving and metal work long before the white man came.

Concerning an early attempt to Christianize the Benin there is told a story of tragic human appeal. Portuguese missionaries were working on the outskirts of the Benin country, which lies west of the Niger, in what now is the British protectorate of Southern Nigeria. The Benin monarch derided their activities, and sent word that in exchange for one white wife he would enroll all his subjects in the Christian church. A member of the sisterhood volunteered to accept the hand of "his sable majesty," and he is said to have treated her most kindly, although her sacrifice wrought no appreciable change in the native religion.

The high cost of clothes bothers the Benin boy and girl not at all, for in token of allegiance to their king they wear none. When the king provides a youth with clothes he becomes a citizen, and usually with the bestowal of the clothes the king also selects for him a wife, in token of his munificence. The man may choose as many additional wives as he wishes and can support.

Though polygamy is practised almost universally, infidelity is punishable by death. Of the upper classes, one traveler said that he never had met with any black princes "so sensible and well-informed as these men, who had so noble and commanding an appearance."

Most explorers have attested to the kindness and generosity of the natives, also to their light-fingered qualities, and all agree that to infringe upon their religious beliefs was a sure route to the sacrificial cross where human crucifixion was practised by the whites.

It was not until after a massacre of Europeans in 1897, when a British expedition was sent from Gwato, the port city of the Benin country, to Benin City, twenty-five miles inland, that these fanatical sacrifices were eliminated.

The massacre occurred when seven unarmed British officials, on the way to Benin City, were set upon and murdered along with their two hundred native attendants. The punitive expedition captured the king and three of his chiefs. The latter were tried and condemned to death, the sentences of two being executed, while the third committed suicide. The king, also tried, was exiled. The trials took place in the native court house in the Benin capital.

A will written on a table cloth was refused probate in San Francisco because Mrs. Helen Scott, who wrote it just before she died, forgot to put a date on it.

Wealth From Waste

Production of Gas From Straw and the Briquetting of Lignite

A famous mustard maker used to remark that he owed his fortune not to mustard which people ate, but to what they left on the sides of their plates. That is one example of wealth derived from waste. But a correspondent has been good enough to draw our attention to other sources of wealth—to be derived from materials which would otherwise be wasted. Dr. R. D. McLaurin, who was until recently Professor of Chemistry in the University of Saskatchewan, has been particularly identified with research in the direction of the production of gas from straw and the briquetting of lignite. In terms of petrol, the gas from straw wasted annually in Western Canada would be 470,000,000 gallons, which is more than one-ninth of the total production of petrol in the world. Perhaps someone will apply Dr. McLaurin's calculations to South Africa. He has extended them to the United States, where he says that 200,000,000 tons of maize stalks are wasted annually. Could some Rhodesians run their agricultural machinery in whole or in part from the burning of their waste? It almost looks like it.—Bulawayo Chronicle.

Efforts are always successful. It is a greater thing to try without succeeding than to succeed without trying.

"That star up there is Orion."
"So that is O'Ryan, is it?"
"Yes, that's Orion."

What Belgium Has Done

The Most Intensively Cultivated Country in the World

The progress toward the restoration of pre-war conditions which Belgium has already accomplished is little less than marvellous. In less than a year her coal production—the basis of modern industry—reached 90 per cent; sugar refineries, 100 per cent; cotton looms, 60 per cent; wool products, 75 per cent, and shoes, 70 per cent. Even steel production, which suffered most, reached 30 per cent.

When Germany seized and carried away the machinery of Belgian factories, the confident expectation was to so crush out industrial production as to leave the Belgians reduced to agriculture. But the tide which ebbed so fiercely has been flowing back, until of 9,797 machines of which a record was kept, there had, by the end of 1919, been returned 5,009 machines, and the remainder was still coming back at the rate of 30 carloads a day. During the war 1,366 miles of railway track and 1,419 bridges were destroyed, and already these have been reconstructed.

We are accustomed to think of China and Japan as densely settled countries, but in 1913 Belgium was the most densely populated and intensively cultivated country in the world. Its 11,373 square miles make it about the size of Maryland, with one man in every six a land owner. To such perfection had agriculture been developed that three-fifths of the total area was under cultivation, producing an average of $100 per acre—a record equalled by no other country. A 60-mile pipe line for pumping beet juice from 14 gathering stations to the sugar refineries illustrates the advanced development of its agricultural industries. In devastated farm lands Belgium was fortunate in losing only 70,000 acres—less than one per cent of its total area.

Freedom from general strikes and a national determination to restore normal exports, on which the country largely depends, are hastening a return to prosperity; and wages have been materially increased, but are still low compared with other countries, as pre-war standards were maintained up to the time of the armistice. Instead of the spirit of extravagance which prevails in some other countries, the Belgians preserve that same national thrift which for so many years made it famous as affording the best living for the least money of any country maintaining modern conditions. Another year or two will almost restore pre-war production in most lines.—H. H. Windsor in Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Canada As the Link That Binds

Sympathetic Union of Anglo-Saxon Races as Factors for the World's Good

Speaking at the meeting of the League for Political Education, New York, Major Charles W. Gordon (Ralph Connor), chaplain in the war for the 43rd Battalion of Cameron Highlanders in the Canadian forces, told the members that he thought that Canada was the link that would bind America in sympathy to the British Empire, and that the greatest influence for good in the world would be a sympathetic union of all Anglo-Saxon or Anglo-Celtic racial strains. "I am not pleading for an Anglo-Saxon or an Anglo-Celtic league of nations," he said, "but in this racial strain there exists a mighty force for good. It is the most potential force in modern times, and it will shape the destinies of the world. Anglo-Saxon or Anglo-Celtic unity is a fact, and it must be accepted."

Major Gordon said he used the word Celtic because he thought the words Anglo and Saxon were synonymous and referred to the same racial strain.

"We will find that the enemies that are yours are ours as well," said the Canadian chaplain. "The day of national isolation is past. The United States has passed into a new world and got for itself a new heart."

When a person in the audience suggested that the Canadian chaplain repeat his speech to the United States Senate, he said:

"I would like to tell them a few things. We have no doubt, however, that as America was ready to join us during the war, she will not forsake us now."

Hero: I've had my nose broken in two places.
Sweet Thing: Well, you shouldn't have gone into those places.

The Profiteer: I don't see the sense in the wife being so anxious to buy a kimono. Why, she couldn't play the bloomie instrument if she got it.

Bee Culture Is Profitable

Require Very Little Attention If There Is a Clover Field in the Neighborhood

Bees have proved themselves not only adaptable to the climate of Alberta, but very profitable to raise as a Bee Line, and the experience of Mr. William Wensel, of Edmonton, may be given as an example of this. Mr. Wensel has been keeping bees for the last six years, and returns obtained from them go to show that they can be reared economically and that the honey produced is fully equal to any of the imported variety.

Mr. Wensel started with a foundation swarm of mixed bees. By using only well-bred queens, which he imported from Tennessee, he managed within a few years to improve his swarm until he had almost a pure-bred strain of Italian bees. He keeps from ten to fifteen hives of bees, and disposes of the increase in the spring or fall.

From the standpoint of profit and profitability, bees can hardly be equalled by any other member of the animal or insect family producing food for human consumption. In the spring of 1918 Mr. Wensel had nine hives, of which three were in very poor condition. During the summer the nine hives increased to twenty-one, and the honey produced, less the amount left for winter feed, was 837 pounds. The honey sells at from 35 to 40 cents per pound. In 1913 the record of production from this apiary was one hundred pounds per hive, or at 40 cents per pound, $40 of honey per hive.

Bees in this country require very little attention. If there is a clover field in the neighborhood, and they are supplied with sufficient comb and suitable hives, they will practically look after themselves for the whole summer. In the fall the hives containing the bees are either stored in a cellar or left out in the open. If the bees are left outside, a box large enough to cover the hive and leave a space of about four inches on all sides is put over the hive and the space filled with chaff. An opening, however, is always provided. It has been found that when the hive is plugged up the bees will come to where the opening is and work until they die from exhaustion in their attempt to get out. On the other hand, when there is an opening, they never go out unless on very bright sunny days. In Mr. Wensel's experience the hives have been covered with snow throughout the whole of the winter and the bees came out in splendid shape in the spring.

Mr. Wensel's experience goes to show that it is better to winter the bees outside. They are not only more active and start to work earlier in the spring, but seem to be in far better health. However, if the bees are kept in a cellar over winter it has been found best to take them out about April.

The bees come out and are ready to start their season's work as soon as the warm weather begins. The hives are then cleaned out and the frames and comb put into place. From then on they require no attention until they start to swarm about the last of May or the first of June. Between this date and August as many as three and four swarms may be hatched. The first swarm of the season, if put in a hive of its own, may hatch out a second swarm. One season one of Mr. Wensel's swarms that were hatched in June produced 99 pounds of honey the same season.

It is the practice to take out some honey and put on a super with a queen excluder to induce honey production toward the end of July. In September all, except 35 or 40 pounds of honey, which is left as winter feed, is taken out and the hives prepared for winter.

Washing Aboard Ship

Battle Cruiser to Install A Laundry During Refitting

The fact that the battle cruiser Renown is to have a laundry installed during her refit is another sign of the progress of naval life toward a shore-going standard of comfort. It is not, as a matter of fact, the first case of a laundry in a British warship. Sir Reginald Hall's old ship, the Queen Mary, had one. The New Zealand was fitted with one some years ago, and two of the ships built for foreign navies which were taken over during the war—the Canada and Agincourt—were also equipped to do the ship's washing of dirty linen in private.

Happiness doesn't live at the end of the road; she's a gypsy, wandering with us unseen; ready at our call to share with us her gladness.

The largest steamship ever designed especially for carrying seaplanes, a 10,400-ton craft, recently was launched in Great Britain.

"If you please," she said, "excuse me, but—yes, Mr. Elden, aren't you?"

"Yes; can I help you in any way?"

The woman tilted a moment, but resumed soberly, "You will wonder at me coming to you, but I'm from the country. Did you think that?"

"I suspected it," said Dave, with a smile. "You knocked—" He paused.

"Yes?"

"Like a country girl," he said, boldly.

She tilted again. "Well, I'm lost," she confessed. "I got off the train a short time ago. My aunt was to meet me, but there are such crowds in the street—I must have missed her. And I saw your name on the window, and I had heard of you. So I just thought I'd ask—if you wouldn't mind—showing me to this address."

She fumbled in her pocket, and Dave invited her into the office. There she produced a torn piece of paper with an address.

"Why, that's just a few blocks," said Dave. "I'll walk around with you." He turned for the door, but at that moment there was another timid knock on the door. He opened it. A boy of eight or ten years stood outside.

"Can I come in?" the lad ventured.

"Why, of course you can. What is it, son?"

"Are you Mr. Elden?"

"Yes."

The lad looked shy about the office. It was evident he was impressed with its magnificence. Suddenly he pulled off his hat, disclosing a shock of brown hair.

"Are you Mr. Elden that sells to?"

"Yes. Or, rather, I did sell to, but not many of late. Were you thinking of buying a few loaves?"

"Did you sell to my father?"

"Well, if I knew your father's name perhaps I could tell you. Who is your father?"

"He's Mr. Merton. I'm his son. And he said to me, before he got so bad, he said, 'There's just one honest man in this city, and that's Mr. Elden.' Is that your father's name?"

"Well, I hope it is, but I won't claim such a distinction. I remember your father very well. Did he send you to me?"

"No, sir. He's too sick. He don't know anybody now. He didn't know me tonight." The boy's voice went thick, and he stopped and swallowed. "And then I remembered what he said about you, and I just came. Was that all right, Mr. Elden?"

"You say your father is very sick?"

"He don't know anybody."

"Have you help—a doctor—a nurse?"

"No, sir. We haven't any money. My father spent it all for the lots that he bought from you."

Dave winced. Then, turning to the young woman, "I'm afraid this is a more urgent case than yours. I'll call a taxi to take you to the doctor's."

To his surprise his visitor broke out in a ribald laugh. She had seated herself on a desk, and was swinging one foot jauntily.

"It's all off," she said. "Say, Dave, you couldn't lose me in this burg. You don't remember me, do you? Well, all the better. I'm rather glad I broke down on this job. I used to be something of an actress, and I'd have put it over if it hadn't been for the kid. The fact is, Dave," she continued, "I was sent up here to decoy you. It wasn't fair fighting, and I didn't like it, but money has been mighty slow of late. I wonder—how much you'd give to know who sent me?"

Dave pulled some bills from his pocket and held them before her. She took them from his hand.

"Conward," she said.

Dave's blood went to his head. "The second!" he cried. "The low-down dog! There's more in this than appears on the surface."

"Sure there is," she said. "There's another woman. There always is."

Elden walked to his desk. From a drawer he took a revolver, and he held it a moment in his hands; broke it open, crissed it full of cartridges and thrust it in his pocket.

The girl watched him with friendly interest. "Believe me, Dave," she said, "if Conward turns up missing I won't know a thing—not a d—thing."

For a moment he stood irresolute. He could only guess what Conward's plan had been, but that it had been diabolical and cowardly, and that it concerned Irene, he had no doubt. His impulse was to immediately confront Conward, force a confession, and deal with him as the occasion might seem to require. But his eye fell on the boy, with his shock of brown hair and wistful, half-frightened face.

"I'll go with you first," he said, with quick decision. Then to the girl: "Sorry I must turn you out, but this case is urgent."

"That's all right," she said. Suddenly there was a little catch in her voice. "I'm used to being turned out." He shot a sharp glance at her. Her face was laughing. "You're too decent for your job," he said, abruptly.

"Thanks, Dave," she answered, and he saw her eyes glitter. "That helps some." And before he knew it she was into the street.

"All right, son," said Dave, taking up the matter now in hand. "What's your name—your first name?"

"Charlie."

"And your address?"

The boy mentioned a distant subdivision.

"That is out, isn't it? Well, we'll take the car. We'll run right out and see what is to be done. I guess I'd better call a doctor at once."

He went to the telephone and gave some directions. Then he and the boy walked to a garage, and in a few moments were humming along the by-streets into the country. Dave had already become engrossed in his errand of mercy, and his rage at Conward, if not forgotten, was temporarily dismissed from his mind. He elated with the boy as he drove.

"You go to school?"

"Not this year. Father has been too sick. Of course, this is holidays, and he says he'll be all right before they're over."

Dave smiled grimly. "The incurable optimism!" he murmured to himself. Then outwardly, "Of course we will. We'll fix him up in no time with a good doctor and a good nurse." The light dawned on the calm night, leaving the city streets behind and following what was little more than a country trail. This was a cross-country in every direction, and at every possible angle, by just such other country trails, unravelling themselves from distance to distance, and there they bumped over pieces of graded street, infinitely rougher than the natural prairie; once Dave dropped his front wheel into a collapsing water trench, once he just grazed an isolated hydrant. The city lights were cut off by a shoulder of fog, and only their dull glow hung in the distant sky.

"And this is one of our 'choice residential subdivisions,'" said Dave, as he drove, with Charlie's guidance, and his own in-born sense of location he threaded his way through the maze of diverging trails. "Fine business; fine business."

As the journey continued, the sense of self-reproach which had been static in him for many months became more insistent, and he found himself repeating the ironical phrase, "Fine business, fine business." Yes, I let myself be weighed the coal all right. The intrusion of Conward into his mind sent the blood to his head, but at that moment his reflections were far from gloomy.

"We will have to get out here," he said. "The bridge is down."

Investigation pointed him to be right. A small bridge over a stream had collapsed, and was slowly disintegrating amid its own wreckage. The bridge was a simple beam, getting muddy boots for his pains. Then he ran the car a little to one side of the road, locked the switch, and got out with the boy.

"Pretty lonely out here, isn't it?" he ventured.

"Oh, no. There is a street light we can see in a little while; it is behind the hill now. We see it from the corner of our shack. It's very cheery."

"The light is behind the hill?" he said. "And this is how our success has vanished as quickly as it came. I suppose there is a law somewhere that is not mocked."

They were passing through a settlement of a few small, dimly visible in the starlight and by occasional yellow blurs from their windows. Before one of the meanest of these the boy had stopped. The door of the door was broken, and a feeble light struggled through the space where it gaped outward. Charlie pulled at the door, and Dave entered. At first his eyes could not take in the dim outlines before him; he was conscious of a very small and stuffy room with a regular odor which he attributed to an oil lamp burning on a box. He walked over and turned the lamp up, but the oil was consumed, a red sullen, smoky light was its only response. Then he felt in his pocket, and struck a match.

The light revealed the dinginess of the little room. There was a bed, covered with musty, ragged clothing; a table, littered with broken and dirty dishes and pieces of stale food; a stove, cracked and greasy, and one or two bare boxes serving as articles of furniture. But it was to the bed Dave turned, and, with another match, bent over the shrunken form that lay almost motionless amid the coarse coverings. He brought his face down close, then straightened up and stared at himself for a moment.

"He'll soon be well, don't you think, Mister?" He said he would be well when the holidays—"But Dave's expression stopped the boy, whose face went suddenly wild with fear."

A Brilliant Meteor

Rev. A. J. Warwick Describes Phenomenon Seen and Heard

Do meteorites hit? Rev. A. J. Warwick, Anglican missionary at Shoal River, Man., asserts they do. "I was returning across the river near the mission on this reserve when all at once there was a brilliancy through the whole air, and I turned southward, to see a most intensely white meteor in appearance about twice the size of the planet Jupiter, and issuing from that point. Streams of very vivid sparks trailed at all angles behind, and the whole river side was as though lighted by an electric bulb," he states.

There was one peculiarity, the sound of hissing, which was continuous and without doubt present, along with the course of the phenomenon; and was not supposition on my part. It was present with the light, the sparks and the meteor."

The man who has nothing to say isn't always conscious of it until after he has tried to say it.

Meat Exports From Canada

British Government Will Take All Surplus Supplies of Canadian Bacon

It is expected that exports of meats from Canada will continue to follow the normal demand of the past few years, according to a statement officially made by the Industrial and Development Council of Canadian Meat Packers. The press message from Chicago that owing to the adverse exchange, meat exports from the U.S.A. had ceased, is somewhat belated, as the recorded drop in prices of hogs as a result of changed conditions took place in both countries, the fall, and made for several months has been on the lower basis. The exchange situation between London and the Dominion is somewhat more favorable than for the United States, and Canadian livestock farmers and breeders may be reassured that our exports will continue so far as can be foreseen at about the present monthly level. There is no cause for uneasiness in the livestock industry. The British Government has purchased monthly the supplies of Canadian bacon available for export, and because of the high quality of Canadian bacon there is every indication that they will continue to take all our surplus.

Canada's Mineral Resources

In Possession of the World's Supply of Nickel, Cobalt and Asbestos

At the opening of the twenty-second annual meeting of the Canadian Mining Institute, at Toronto, President D. H. McDougall pointed out Canada's situation with regard to the three basic material requirements of a nation—coal, iron and wood. Her coal deposits, he said, did not include anthracite, except in small quantities; her iron ores were of very small content, and their development depended upon the advance of experiments to a large degree; her timber resources were vanishing, and Canada's position was indeed alarming. As an offset to this he emphasized Canada's "strategic" superiority mineralogically in the possession of the World's supply of nickel, cobalt and asbestos.

Big Reclamation Plan

Manitoba and Saskatchewan will cooperate in the reclamation of the Carrot River triangle, lying in the vicinity of The Pas, according to government announcement. The estimated cost of reclaiming the land is $2,000,000 and the cost will be borne by the two provinces in proportion to the amount of land in each. The triangle of 700,000 acres of land, 200,000 acres of which lie in Manitoba and the remainder in the adjoining province.

Valuable Mining Property

The Greatest Yielding Copper Mine On the Continent

The sale of the Flin Flon copper mine of La Pas in southern Manitoba to the International Nickel Company has just been announced. The purchase price was one million dollars.

Consequent on this purchase it is expected that a railway to the mine will be built in the near future, connecting with the Hudson's Bay Railway at a point about 42 mile north-east of the Pas and that a smelter will be built and water power which is located near the mine will be developed.

The proven ore body in the mine is twenty million tons, worth about 180 million dollars, which will make it the greatest yielding copper mine on the continent, states the Regina Post.

German Dyes for Great Britain

First Installment Will Shortly Arrive In Great Britain

The British Board of Trade has just given notice to consumers of dye-stuffs that the first installment of colors which Germany has to furnish under the reparations clauses of the peace treaty will shortly arrive in the United Kingdom, and will be followed at intervals with additional quantities. Distribution will be made as soon as possible after each consignment is received. The basis for distribution will be normal probable requirements for the next six months of the members of Color Users' Association and the National Federation of Paint, Color and Varnish Manufacturers.

The Cause of Failure

Every Farmer Should Keep A Strict Record of All Transactions

To be successful, farming must be made a business. Failures in farming are as often due to neglecting the business side as to any other cause. Farmers who neglect to keep exact records of their receipts and expenditures should ponder the following extract from the February "Teller," issued by the Sterling Bank.

"When asked recently by the National Association of Credit Men what in their opinion was the chief cause of business failures, 10,000 merchants replied almost in a man: 'Failure to keep books.' About the same time another investigation among 6,000 merchants taken at random from all parts of the country showed that only 10 per cent. kept records that told them: What they had in stock, what profits they were making, what their expenditure was for selling, advertising and other items of overhead, what particular part of their business was profitable or unprofitable.

Every farmer who does not keep books should make up his mind to begin. Send to the Commission of Conservation for a free copy of the "Farmer's Account Book."

SHORT OF BREATH Could Hardly Walk Without Resting.

When you go to a physician to be examined for any heart trouble, one of the first questions he asks is: "Are you short of breath?"

Now, when the heart becomes affected there ensues a feeling of a choking sensation, a shortness of breath, palpitation, throbbing, irregular beating, smothering sensation, dizziness and a weak, sinking, all-gone feeling of oppression and anxiety.

On the first sign of the heart becoming weakened or the nerves unstrung Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are just the remedy you require. They regulate and stimulate the heart, and strengthen and restore the whole nerve system.

Dr. Stephen Crouse, East Clifford, N.S., writes: "I suffered for five years with heart trouble. I could hardly walk from the house to the barn without resting, as I used to get so short of breath. Doctors could not help me. My wife told me to get a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and I felt better after taking them; three boxes made me quite well. I am now helping my son to work the farm. I can truthfully say I feel like a different man."

Extraordinary Growth of Business Is Reported by Old Established Firm

Anticipating considerable activity in building operations in western Canada in 1920, the firm of Bird and Son, Ltd., of Hamilton, large manufacturers of building paper, have had representatives in the west, estimating the probable demand of this country for the coming season.

The directors of the Merrick Anderson company have announced that they have closed a contract with the Hamilton firm to act as their exclusive distributors for the provinces of Saskatchewan and Manitoba. This will include the handling of the Neponset building paper and felt, the well known Paroid roofing, wall boards, etc.

The Merrick Anderson company recently purchased from Donald H. Bain the warehouse just west of the Merrick Anderson property, which will give room to carry the stock of the firm of Bird and Son, George A. Merrick stated to the Free Press that the extraordinary gain in business which has marked recent months shows no sign of cessation.

In spite of the crop failure in sections of the west last fall and the comparative failure in various portions of the country in recent years, the buying power of the provinces is undiminished and very large quantities of goods are being absorbed every month.

Considerable extensions are being made this year in connection with the paper and paint plants of the Merrick Anderson company and further improvements will be made if conditions warrant this year.

Poultrymen Organize

Officers For the Year Elected at Ottawa Convention

Representative poultrymen from all parts of Canada in convention at Ottawa last week completed the organization of a Canadian National Poultry Association, to embrace the consideration of all matters tending towards the improvement and advancement of a poultry industry, and to keep a record of registered poultry and collect, preserve and publish data, information and documents relating to registration. The basis of this to be qualification of the record of performance for poultry. Application will be made for the incorporation of the constitution and rules of entry under the Livestock Pedigree Act.

This association will be controlled by a directorate of twenty-two representatives from each province, together with the Dominion poultry husbandman and the chief of the poultry division of the livestock branch. The provincial men are representative of the poultry association and the departments of agriculture. The following officers were elected:

President, Dr. R. Barnes, Ottawa; western vice-president, N. W. Kerr, Brandon, Man.; eastern vice-president, S. La Fortune, Matheau Point, N.B.; secretary-treasurer, R. Rhoades, Ottawa. Western members of the executive are: Prof. R. K. Baker, University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon; A. J. Gibson, Regina, Sask.; C. M. Baker, Calgary; J. H. Hare, Department of Agriculture, Edmonton; H. Theatre Attendance in Alberta

During the past year 7,374,393 people passed through the doors of the theatres in the province of Alberta, according to information given to the legislature by W. M. Davidson, respecting theatres for Alberta. The total receipts for the theatre tax during the year 1919 was $143,926, as compared with $90,725 in 1918.

Wantmore Peanut Cookies

One-fourth cup butter (scant), one-half cup sugar, one egg beaten without separating white and yolk, one cup Fowler's Wantmore Blended Salted Peanuts, two tablespoons of milk, three-fourths cup of flour.

Cream the butter gradually, beating in the sugar, egg, milk and flour until the teaspoonful of baking powder. Chop the nuts fine and add them to the mixture. Drop on a buttered tin a teaspoonful on one place; bake in a moderate oven. This recipe makes two dozen small cakes. Be sure and use Fowler's Wantmore Salted Peanuts, as no other peanuts make them as good.

Breeding Draft Horses

Demand for Heavy Draft Animals Was Never Better

From reports received from every part of the country it is apparent that there are fewer good draft colts from one to three years of age than ever before. The country is overstocked with light nondescript colts and horses for which there is no demand and for which there is not likely to be any great demand in the future. The world is short of heavy draft animals, and the outlook for good prices for this class of stock weighing from 1,650 to 2,000 lbs. at maturity was never better. France alone of the European countries is in the market for 60,000 heavy draft horses, for which they will pay good prices.

Farmers and breeders should not fail to breed every good draft mare available this year, and they should be bred to the biggest draft stallion available. Breed is not so important as size, quality and weight. The breeds that produce these desirable qualities with greatest uniformity may be listed in the following order: Percherons, Belgians and Clydesdales. Breeders desirous of purchasing good sires should select not only good individual stallions, but they should see to it that they are bred from good families of mares, and if possible should purchase Canadian western bred horses, that have been acclimated. The curse of the heavy horse breeding industry in Western Canada has been the importations and sale of cheap fat stallions of poor ancestry.

Farmers should breed only from the best if they wish to produce desirable draft horses for the future.—By Prof. W. L. Carlyle.

Two Neighbors

The United States has several thousands miles of boundary on the north and several hundred miles of boundary with Mexico on the south. The northern boundary costs it nothing. The southern boundary has cost it more than a billion dollars in the last nine years. There is no difficulty in protecting United States citizens in Canada. Hundreds of them have been murdered and hundreds more robbed in Mexico. Between Canada and Mexico is the difference between the orderly, civilized self-government, and the turmoil of the anarchy, where self-government breaks down because of the physical handicaps the climate imposes on the race.—Kansas City Times.

A GENTLE LAXATIVE FOR THE CHILDREN

Mothers—the surest way of keeping your little ones well and happy; whether it is a new-born babe or the growing child is to keep their bowels regular and their stomach sweet. Nine-tenths of all childhood ailments are the result of clogged bowels and sour stomach. The most necessary and the best medicine for little ones is a gentle laxative—something that will relieve constipation; sweeten the stomach and promote rest and natural sleep. Such a medicine is Baby's Own Tablets. They are a gentle but efficient laxative; are absolutely guaranteed free from opiates or other injurious drugs and may be given to the youngest infant with perfect safety. They banish constipation, and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers and give the baby that health and happiness which all children should have. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Unusual Herring Catch

by LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly intensified by constitutional conditions. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE will cure catarrh. It is taken internally and acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is composed of some of the best tonics known, combined with the most powerful purgatives. The perfect combination of the ingredients in HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is what produces such wonderful results in catarrhal conditions.

ONLY TABLETS MARKED
"BAYER" ARE ASPIRIN.

Not Aspirin at All without the "Bayer Cross"

BAYER

The name "Bayer" identifies the famous "Bayer" Aspirin, the Aspirin prescribed by physicians for over nineteen years and now made in Canada. Always buy an unbroken package of "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" which a few cents. Larger "Bayer" packages.

There is only one Aspirin—"Bayer"—You must say "Bayer". Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) of Bayer Manufacturers of Mono-acetic acid of Salicylic acid. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assist the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer Company will be stamped with their general trade mark, the "Bayer Cross".

Contains proper directions for Colds, Headache, Toothache, Earache, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Neuritis, Joint Pains, and Pain generally. Tin boxes of 12 tablets cost but of "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" which a few cents. Larger "Bayer" packages.

Want Canadian Coal New Varieties of Beans
Montreal Council Urges Extensive Operation of Dominion Mines
Practical Gardener in Southern Alberta Develops Six New Varieties

The Montreal city council has adopted a resolution which, after stating that a large portion of the coal consumed in that city is imported from the United States at prices which are continually increasing whilst short ages sometimes occur, which may become permanent, requests the federal authorities to favor by all possible means the intensive operation of Canadian coal mines.

The resolution points out that intensive operation of Canadian coal mines would remedy to a large extent the above stated inconveniences, have the effect of keeping in the country large sums of money which are being spent for the purchase of coal, and would provide with employment the thousands of people at present out of work.

The culture of dwarf bush beans has been brought to the highest pitch of development by Hiram Kimball, of Raymond, who is well known in southern Alberta as a practical and scientific grower. After seventeen years experimenting he has developed six varieties of beans, from the results obtained from them will mean a very great deal in the bean industry.

Some of the yields obtained sound like a fairy tale, but they have been vouched for by reliable eye-witnesses. Mr. Kimball has raised from the particular varieties of beans, seven tons, or 233 bushels of beans to the acre. This is estimated from the fact that Mr. Kimball planted one hundred pounds of beans to the acre and obtained a yield of six tons.

A Happy Family

—BY DR. S. C. BOWERS.

A happy family is one that can sit down to the table with keen appetites and good cheer. Plenty of the out-of-doors and cleanliness, inside and outside of the body, will make for health, wealth and happiness. Your doctor will tell you that anything from a headache to the most serious illness may result from allowing food to ferment in the intestines. The first thing to do in case you feel mean, logy, dull, perhaps feverish, is to flush the liver and kidneys, drink plenty of water, and take a dose of castor oil, or, something better, made of May-apple, aloin and jalap, and long sold by almost every druggist as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. This may save you from a fit of sickness, remove the poisons from the system and give the tissues of the body a chance to build up and resist disease.

People are realizing more and more that the kidneys, just as do the bowels, need to be flushed occasionally. The kidneys are an eliminative organ and are constantly working, separating the poisons from the blood. Uric acid backs up into the system, causing rheumatism, neuralgia, dropsy and many other serious disturbances.

This can be avoided by stimulating the kidneys to increased action, and because of its tonic effect on these organs I would advise any one to get Anuric (anti-uric-acid) which is to be had nowadays for fifty cents, at almost any drug store.

COLLHOLME KOLUM

Some horses have been sold here at fair prices.

Stock in this community is showing the effects of a hard winter. A large number of horses have died.

The government telephone inspector is looking over some of the roads. Expecting to see some work done during the coming summer.

Arthur Rousseau is expected in from Nanton this week. Arthur is bringing in some horses. No doubt Viny Ridge will show the result this coming summer.

This community is thinking of forming an egg circle and ship direct to Calgary, as Chinook don't appear to be governed by price, except by supply and demand.

The devil's agents are busy thrusting upon respectable homes circular letters, offering liquors at almost prohibitive prices, and yet it appears that some cannot resist the temptation.

We hear of some changes going to be made in our mail service to Fridays and Mondays. There are many, if not all, who would rather have Friday and Thursday instead of the one proposed. Our present mail carrier has given the best service which we all appreciate.

While out hunting horses, Norman Stewart came near getting seriously injured. Going at a good pace his saddle horse stumbled over some ice, landing in ice, leaving such a mark or hole, which you would almost think was caused by a cannon ball.

Folks have been wondering why so many democrats, loaded with people, paraded up as far as W. H. Davis', the other day. Guess they must have thought that some congratulations were in order, but it appears as though it proved to be a disappointment. If you want more particulars, ask J. M.

Some of the farmers to the south of us are getting quite enthused over some professor at Winnipeg, who is going to perform miracles and cause all kinds of rain to fall in a radius of 100 miles of Winnipeg. This Professor is only asking the small sum of $2.50 per quarter and guarantees rain for period of five years. No rain, no pay.

Evidence of bug juice is noticeable on road from here to Chinook, which is a disgrace to our government. These are days when hell is enlarging its mouth and leading men captive at its will. We have only to go to Chinook restaurants and see the evidence of drunken men staggering around. Whoever is responsible of passing liquor to those old-time-run soaks have reason to blush with shame. Yet in face of the fact that this condition is general, Premier Stewart says that the act will remain unchanged for this year. That's enough to stagger common decency.
